

DeliGo Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

Comprehensive platform guidance for Customers, Merchants, and Independent Couriers

About DeliGo

What is DeliGo?

DeliGo is a technology marketplace and intermediary platform that connects customers, merchants, service providers, and independent couriers through a digital ecosystem. The platform enables users to discover, order, purchase, and receive products and services from independent third parties.

Does DeliGo sell products?

No. DeliGo does not own, manufacture, prepare, store, or sell any products. All products available through the platform are offered and sold by independent merchants.

Does DeliGo provide delivery services?

No. DeliGo does not provide transportation, courier, or delivery services. Deliveries are performed by independent couriers who use the platform.

What is DeliGo's role?

DeliGo acts solely as a technology provider and digital intermediary. The platform facilitates communication, order management, payment processing, and transaction support between customers, merchants, service providers, and independent couriers.

Customer FAQs

How do I create a DeliGo account?

You can register through the DeliGo mobile application or website using your email address or mobile number.

How do I place an order?

Browse available merchants on the platform, select products or services, add them to your cart, and complete the checkout process.

Who am I purchasing from?

You are purchasing directly from the merchant or service provider listed on the platform. DeliGo is not the seller of any products or services.

How can I track my order?

Customers can monitor order status and delivery progress through the DeliGo platform when tracking information is available.

What payment methods are accepted?

Available payment methods may include credit cards, debit cards, digital wallets, bank transfers, and cash options where supported by merchants.

Can I cancel an order?

Cancellation availability depends on the merchant's policies and the order status at the time of the request.

Who should I contact regarding product quality issues?

Product quality, availability, preparation, packaging, and product-related concerns are the responsibility of the merchant supplying the product.

Merchant FAQs

Who can join DeliGo?

Restaurants, grocery stores, supermarkets, pharmacies, bakeries, retail shops, florists, and other eligible businesses may apply to join the platform.

How do I become a merchant partner?

Businesses can register through the DeliGo Merchant Portal and submit the required business documentation for verification.

What benefits do merchants receive?

Merchants gain access to customers, digital order management, reporting tools, promotional opportunities, and marketplace visibility.

Who sets product prices?

Merchants are responsible for determining their own pricing, promotions, product availability, and business policies.

How are payments settled?

Payments are processed through the platform and settled according to the applicable merchant agreement.

Courier FAQs

Who are DeliGo couriers?

Couriers are independent individuals or businesses that use the DeliGo platform to connect with delivery opportunities.

Are couriers employed by DeliGo?

No. Couriers operate independently and are not employees, agents, or representatives of DeliGo.

How can I become a courier partner?

Applicants can register through the DeliGo Courier Portal and submit the required documents for verification.

What documents are required?

Requirements may include identification documents, driving licenses, vehicle documents, insurance, and any permits required by local laws.

Can I choose my own working hours?

Yes. Independent couriers generally have flexibility regarding when and how often they use the platform.

Payments & Security

Is my payment information secure?

DeliGo uses industry-standard security measures and secure payment technologies to help protect payment information.

Does DeliGo store credit card information?

Payment information is processed through authorized payment providers and handled in accordance with applicable security standards and privacy regulations.

How does DeliGo protect personal data?

DeliGo processes personal data in accordance with its Privacy Policy and applicable data protection laws, including GDPR where applicable.

Liability & Responsibility

Who is responsible for products sold on DeliGo?

The merchant supplying the product is responsible for product quality, safety, legality, pricing, availability, and compliance with applicable regulations.

Who is responsible for deliveries?

Independent couriers are responsible for delivery and transportation services they provide through the platform.

Is DeliGo responsible for disputes between users?

DeliGo may assist with dispute resolution where appropriate but is not a party to transactions between customers, merchants, service providers, or couriers.

Contact Information

Email: info@deligo.pt

Website: www.deligo.pt

Customer Support: Available via app & website

Head Office: Rua Joaquim Agostinho 16C,
1750-126 Lisboa, Portugal

Legal Policies

- Terms and Conditions
- Privacy Policy
- Cookie Policy
- Merchant Terms
- Courier Terms